Pochampally Handloom park ltd

Annamacharya Institute of Technology and Sciences, Hyderabad inked an MOU with Pochampally Handloom Park Ltd. To establish and develop an ikkat the resist is formed by binding individual yarns or bundles of yarns with a tight wrapping applied in the desired pattern.

The yarns are then dyed. The bindings may then be altered to create a new pattern and the yarns dyed again with another color. This process may be repeated multiple times to produce elaborate, multicolored patterns. When the dyeing is finished all the bindings are removed and the yarns are woven into cloth. In other resist-dyeing techniques such as tie-dye and batik the resist is applied to the woven cloth, whereas in ikkat the resist is applied to the yarns before they are woven into cloth. Because the surface design is created in the yarns rather than on the finished cloth, in ikkat both fabric faces are patterned.

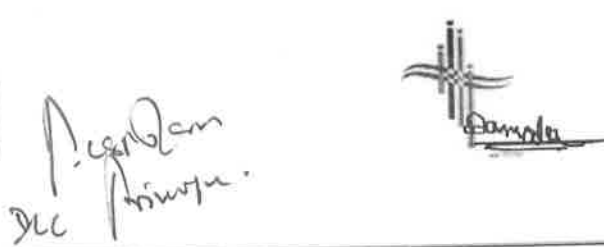

This MOU aims at building up a network of handloomers. Also, the agreement makes it possible for students to study the start up more effectively to the socio-economic development of many regions. It also creates and support jobs and encourages diversification in production for commercialization of traditional Knowledge in response to the demands of quality-conscious consumers.
